American Indian Measures for Success (AIHEC-AIMS)

AIMS Key Indicator System 2019 (AKIS 2019)

The AIHEC American Indian Measures for Success (AIHEC-AIMS) project has two goals: 1) to define relevant quantitative and qualitative indicator data of American Indian student success, as determined by the tribal colleges, and 2) to develop and implement a strategy for collecting, analyzing, and presenting annually the success indicator data using electronic information management tools. Through data collection and analysis, this project provides the foundation for systemic reform that significantly increases - and for the first time, accurately measures - American Indian success in higher education.

At the spring 2004 meeting, the AIHEC Board of Directors passed the following resolution in support of the AIHEC-AIMS project:

"The AIHEC Board of Directors should take an active role in the development of a definition of Tribal College and University student success and should support the AIHEC-Lumina initiative. Further, each Tribal College should participate, to the maximum extent possible, in all activities associated with the initiative."

The AIMS Key Indicator System (AKIS) was developed under the guidance of the AIMS Advisory Panel and Tribal College and University presidents and registrars. AIHEC would like to express its appreciation for the time and effort given during the development of the instruments.

AKIS 2019 consists of two parts:

- Part A: Quantitative Indicators (Microsoft Excel®)
- Part B: Qualitative Indicators (Microsoft Word®)

Thank you in advance for your participation in the AIHEC-AIMS project! Please complete AKIS 2019 by Monday, December 2, 2019.

If you have any questions regarding AKIS 2019, please contact Katherine Cardell by email at kcardell@aihec.org or by phone at (703) 838-0400 x105.

Table 1.2b: Institutional Narrative / AY 2018-19
Please insert a profile/description of your institution. Include, but do not limit the profile to, details about the institution's location, land mass, population, establishment, programs, and what makes the institution unique. (See sample documents for examples.)
Navajo Technical University (NTU) began as the Navajo Skills Center in 1979 under the Economic Labor and Manpower of the Navajo Nation. The Center was developed out of the need to confront high unemployment rates, while creating a learning facility for Navajo people to gain experience for employment. The Skills Center was able to offer certificates of completion for certain skill requirements, but unlike other educational institutions, it was not permanently funded. The Center operated under the Bureau of Indian Affairs, and was required to have obtained accreditation to receive funding. At the time, the only accreditation the center had was the Adult Basic Education program, which it obtained under the Tribally Controlled Vocational Education Act. Without funding, crucial infrastructure needed to operate a learning facility was not in place. Maintenance and operation support was outsourced under the Comprehensive Employment & Training Act (CETA) and facilities were difficult to maintain. Flooding was a constant problem and the Center's Administration Building was demolished due to health and safety concerns. Eventually, the Skills Center was able to access funds made available as tribal nations began collaborating on adjusting sanctions that delineated Tribal Colleges and Universities (TCU). Funds were identified under the Tribally Controlled University Assistance Act, and Title III funds were made available by then Navajo Community College President Thomas Atcity and the American Indian Higher Education Consortium. The 1980s saw a global shift in technology and Skills Center leadership turned its focus to the oncoming digital revolution. Efforts were made to begin transitioning the Skills Center from a vocational center to college status, and in 1985, the Navajo Skills Center became the Crownpoint Institute of Technology. Three years later, Jim Tutt was hired as CIT president, setting course for CIT to become a 1994 Land Grant institution. The status would open a pathway for new programs and research at the institution as well as secure permanent funding – funding that NTU and other TCUs still receive today. Progress came quick after NTU became a fully accredited institution by the Higher Learning Commission in 2005, and in the following year, CIT changed its name to Navajo Technical College. The accreditation allowed NTC to offer accredited academic programs, and it allowed NTC to expand its services to other regions. In 2009, NTU opened its Chinle instructional site, and in 2012, an instructional site in Teec Nos Pos, AZ followed. The accreditation also allowed NTC to pursue advanced degrees, which it leveraged in 2013 to become a university. The same year, the HLC approved a Master of Arts degree in Diné Culture, Language & Leadership. In 2019, NTU opened two additional instructional sites in Kirtland, NM and Zuni, NM. Today, NTU offers 23 certificates, 20 associate degrees, 12 baccalaureate degrees, and the Navajo Nation's only graduate degree in Diné Culture, Language, and Leadership. NTU is the only tribal college and university to have programs that hold accreditation with the American Culinary Federation, the American Veterinarian Medical Association, and ABET. NTU is regarded as one the premier higher education institutions in the southwest and it has a reputation as an emerging tech hub. NTU has differentiated itself by offering a unique blend of science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM) programs as well as culturally centered programs that promote language and identity. The unique blend of science and culture differentiates NTU from any other college or university within the region. NTU's push to develop advanced degrees also distinguishes NTU from other tribal colleges and universities throughout the country. NTU operates on the Navajo Reservation, a 27,000 square mile area on the Colorado Plateau that can be compared to that of the size of the state of West Virginia. It is comprised of the states Arizona, New Mexico, and Utah. According to the 2012 American Community Survey – 3-year estimate (ACS), the Navajo Nation currently holds a population of 177,078 people, with 48.7% of the population being male and 51.3% being female. Of this population, 169,774 (95.9%) were American Indians. The Navajo population is relatively young. This is reflected by the fact that the median age of the overall population residing on the Navajo Nation in 2012 was 28.8 years, whereas the median age of the population of the United States was 37.3 years old. Only 7.1% of American Indian graduates on the Navajo Nation have obtained a baccalaureate degree or higher compared to 26.7% of their peers completing the same higher education accomplishments within Arizona, 25.7% within New Mexico and 30.1% within Utah.
Please share the top two successes of your institution for Academic Year 2018-19.
The top two successes of AY 2018-2019, included: (1) NTU obtaining ABET accreditation for its Industrial Engineering and Electrical Engineering programs, and (2) conferring our first honorary Doctorate of Public Service degree to longtime New Mexico State Senator, John Pinto.
Please share one or two significant challenges faced by your institution in AY 2018-19 (e.g., faculty changes, natural disaster, funding cuts, etc.).
NTU experienced a significant challenge when it funding was uncertain under the Carl Perkins grant. This forced NTU to begin alternative funding streams as well as beginning the process of establishing a LLC. Fortunately, Congress reauthorized Carl Perkins funding for a project period of up to 5 years.
